Outdoor spaces are opportunities to express creativity

Land and Water Creations located in Ponte Vedra Beach is all about doing what it can to make outdoor spaces come to life and sometimes through unique approaches.

According to owner Dean Johnston, it is this uniqueness that helps the business stand apart from other landscaping businesses because they focus more on quality than quantity when it comes to their clients.

“One average we take care of about 10 clients a year, which is nice because it allows you to see your work through and to see it develop over time,” Johnston said. “I always look at it as if this could be the last garden I design, so I want to make it the best I can.”

A lot of his philosophy stems from believing that outdoor spaces should be a place where creativity thrives instead of a box where it is stifled, which unfortunately he believes is the case in many instances.

He wants his clients to be aware of the creative options that are out there for them to choose from and is dedicated to making sure they find the best fit to accomplish their outdoor space dreams.

“I try to take a horticultural approach and look at what things are going to look like months and years from now instead of just what looks good right now so that the landscapes last longer,” Johnston said. “It’s a lot of fun to plan and see it all come together.”

Johnston is originally from Delaware and has 30-plus years of experience of transforming and maintaining lawns and gardens. He currently works alongside his son Trevor with the business making it a true family affair.

A couple of years ago, Johnston chose to eliminate grass cutting services to focus more effort on the design aspects of an outdoor space.

The weather in Florida is much different to the northeast where he moved from, but he also did a lot of work in Texas over the years, which he has found has similar climates and requires similar approaches as a result.

Custom stonework is one of the business’ specialties.

“That was the idea when we moved down here, was the ability to have work and projects all year round,” Johnston said.

“I’m always learning because there’s always a new plant out there or a new way to landscape,” Johnston said.

One of Johnston’s specialties he has mastered over the years is his use of custom stonework in his projects.

“I like it because it gives me the ability to work on my art when it comes to shaping the stone,” Johnston said. “I’m always trying to outdo myself and do the best that I can for my clients.”

He has also found the importance of lighting in how an outdoor space is perceived.

“People are outside all the time down here and outdoor lighting can go a long way in adding to the atmosphere and bringing about the space,” Johnston said.

Looking to the future, Land and Water Creations would like to do more with hydroponics, including introducing natural pools which are popular in the northeast and Johnston has hopes to introduce them as an option in the local area as well moving forward.

“My goal is to have gardens that lives and breathes. It should help accentuate the house and bring about promoting the nature around,” Johnston said.

“Black Twitter: A People’s History” (May 9)

Based on Jason Parham’s WIRED article “A People’s History of Black Twitter,” this three-part docuseries, according to Hulu, “charts the rise, the movements, the voices and the memes that made Black Twitter an influential and dominant force in nearly every aspect of American political and cultural life.”

“Grey’s Anatomy” - Season 20, New Episode (May 10)

Celebrating its 20th season, this beloved medical procedural proves that life moves fast — and the doctors at Grey Sloan Memorial need to move faster, if they want to keep up with it. Following collapsed floors and complicated wellness programs, the hospital’s newest “white coats” have been fighting their way through their residencies, all eager to impress their superiors, like Drs. Miranda Bailey (Chandra Wilson, “Lone Star,” 1996), Richard Webber (James Pickens Jr., “42,” 2013) and Jo Wilson (Camilla Luddington, “The Healer,” 2016).

“Hip-Hop and The White House” (Available Now)

Narrated by Atlanta rap giant Jeezy (“Mr. President”), this documentary looks at the intersection of hip-hop and one of the most powerful positions in the world: the President of the United States. Directed, written and executive produced by journalist and filmmaker Jesse Washington (“Black Will Shoot”), the film features appearances by artists Bun B (“Int’l Players Anthem”), Chika (“SONGS ABOUT YOU”), Common (“Invocation”) and more, as it delves into a “50-year history of a world-changing culture, illustrating hip-hop’s journey from outsider status to the pinnacle of power” (per Hulu).

“Don’t Worry Darling” (Available Now)

Alice Chambers (Florence Pugh, “Little Women,” 2019) lives the perfect life as an idyllic, 1950’s housewife. That is, until she begins to notice the other wives in the neighborhood developing strange behaviors, causing her to question her husband, Jack (Harry Styles, “Dunkirk,” 2017), and how real their lives truly are. Directed by Olivia Wilde (“Babylon,” 2022), this 2022 thriller also stars Chris Pine (“Wonder Woman,” 2017), Gemma Chan (“The Creator,” 2023), Nick Kroll (“Big Mouth”), Kiki Layne (“If Beale Street Could Talk,” 2018), Sydney Chandler (“Pistol”) and more.

"Super Rich in Korea" - Season 1 (May 7)

This brand-new reality series documents the luxurious and lavish lifestyles of mega-rich individuals living throughout Korea. Following "a Singaporean tycoon, an Italian luxury brand heir, a Pakistani noble and more" (per Netflix), the series offers a glimpse into a gilded world filled with glitz and glamor, unlike anything the average watcher has seen before, as the multibillionaires share how they came into their wealth. Sharing social media sensations and true fashion icons, the series comes from creator Park Hye-seong ("Steven Universe").

"Bodkin" - Season 1 (May 9)

Starring Will Forte ("Nebraska," 2013), Siobhán Cullen ("Obituary"), Robyn Cara ("We Die Young," 2019), David Wilmot ("Anna Karenina," 2012), Chris Walley ("1917," 2019), Seán Óg Cairns ("Find Me in Paris") and more, this "dramedy" series follows as a group of podcasters set out to investigate the disappearances of three seemingly unrelated strangers in an otherwise peaceful, small Irish town. As they hunt for clues, however, the podcasters discover that the story is much bigger — and far more complicated — than they ever could have imagined.

"Mother of the Bride" (May 9)

Are those wedding bells or alarm bells? Directed by Mark Waters ("500 Days of Summer," 2009), this 2024 film follows as Lana (Brooke Shields, "The Blue Lagoon," 1980) joins her daughter, Emma (Miranda Cosgrove, "iCarly"), in celebrating her recent engagement and quickly approaching wedding. As the two families work towards becoming one, Lana learns that the charming man who stole her daughter's heart (Sean Teale, "Rosaline," 2022) is, in fact, the son of the man who once broke hers (Benjamin Bratt, "Miss Congeniality," 2000).

"Cooking Up Murder" - Limited Series (May 10)

Sometimes, the price for a good plate of food just isn't worth it — no matter how delicious your meal was. This docuseries analyzes the chilling murder of 25-year old Heidi Paz, a case that soon implicated a renowned Spanish chef who built his career by weaving a web filled with secrets, deception and false identities: César Román. After fleeing Madrid, Román sent the police on a months-long, nationwide manhunt, making headlines across Spain.

Croissant kings: American bakers take on French pastries in new competition series

Kicking off with a mouth-watering, 90-minute premiere episode, the new series “Next Baking Master: Paris” premieres Monday, May 6, on Food Network.

Hosted by talented and acclaimed pastry chef Stephanie Boswell, alongside French chef-slash-restaurateur Ludo Lefebvre (“Ludo Bites America”), this brand-new series — shot on location in Paris, France — offers 10 ambitious, highly skilled bakers from across America the opportunity to travel to one of the pastry capitals in the world, where they can visit iconic pastry shops and gain mentorship from renowned French baking experts.

As they travel, train and try their hand at some complicated recipes, the bakers will be asked to “prove their mettle in the pillars of great baking and pastry: technique, artistry, flavor, innovation and inspiration” (per Food Network) with each and every skill, from sifting flour to laminating dough, tested throughout this competitive gauntlet. Any who can’t perform will be eliminated from the game, leaving one winner standing.

Whoever proves their talent best (and proves their croissants the fluffiest) will not only earn bragging rights but a full suite of France’s top-of-the-line professional kitchen appliances and baking equipment, valued at $25,000.

Excited for his next chapter, Ludo Lefebvre shared: “Though my culinary career and restaurants brought me to the United States more than 20 years ago, I was born, raised and grew up as a chef in France. It’s so cool to now welcome these competitors to Paris to live and breathe the amazing baking and pastry culture the city offers — it’s the best in the world.”

His co-host, Stephanie Boswell, chipped in, adding: “This Paris experience is a once-in-a-lifetime dream for the chefs. ... I know the inspiration they received by visiting the city’s most renowned patisseries and meeting the supremely talented experts was life-changing for these up-and-comers.”

In the series description, Food Network also shared a bit of what’s to come in the season’s premiere episode, promising that: “Stephanie and Ludo welcome the bakers to Paris for their first challenge: make a dessert that represents their culinary point of view while demonstrating their knowledge of French techniques. The bakers are then whisked away on a field trip to the luxurious Royal Monceau Hotel to meet pastry chef Quentin Lechat, sample his delicacies and learn about a fundamental French ingredient: cream.”

From basic ingredients to brilliant finishing touches, the bakers will put their best bites to the test in “Next Baking Master: Paris,” premiering Monday, May 6, on Food Network.

Chef Ludo Lefebvre co-hosts “Next Baking Master: Paris”

George C. Scott and Paul Newman in “The Hustler”

BEST PAUL NEWMAN MOVIES

“Somebody Up There Likes Me” (1956): Newman made a big leap into stardom in the story of boxer Rocky Graziano.

“Exodus” (1960): Newman impresses as a freedom fighter helping to establish the State of Israel in director Otto Preminger’s drama.

“The Hustler” (1961): One of Newman’s most memorable roles is “Fast” Eddie Felson, a pool-playing upstart who wants to take on the legendary Minnesota Fats (Jackie Gleason).

“Sweet Bird of Youth” (1962): A drifter (Newman) gets involved with a former film star (Geraldine Page) in another Tennessee Williams adaptation.

“The Prize” (1963): Newman displays great humor within a thriller premise in the Irving Wallace story about an unlikely Nobel Peace Prize winner caught up in intrigue while in Sweden for the ceremony.

“Torn Curtain” (1966): This Alfred Hitchcock-directed spy story involves Newman in a brutal kitchen scene. Trust us, you’ll know it when you see it.

“Cool Hand Luke” (1967): An outstanding Newman plays an independent-minded convict who shows “a failure to communicate.”

“The Towering Inferno” (1974): Though he faces more immediate peril than any architect hopefully would, Newman makes a fine action hero in producer Irwin Allen’s disaster epic about a fire in the world’s tallest building.

“The Color of Money” (1986): Newman won an Oscar for reprising his “Hustler” role as Eddie Felson, now the mentor to a younger pool shark (Tom Cruise).

“Road to Perdition” (2002): Keeping his trademark charm, Newman has an atypical role as a Depression-era crime boss targeted by a vengeful ex-employee (Tom Hanks).

“The GOAT” - Season 1 (May 9)

From the Fijian islands of “Survivor” to the dating pods of “Love is Blind,” this reality series asks 14 television superstars to live within the gilded walls of “GOAT Manor,” where they will be “hosted and roasted” by comedian Daniel Tosh (“Tosh 2.0”), who presides over the house and the game itself, leading his guests in endlessly grueling challenges. As they earn and break one another’s trust, the reality stars take part in games that activate their wit, grit and spirit as they fight for $200,000 and the coveted title of “Greatest of All Time.”

“Hip Hop World” - Season 1 (Available Now)

Hosted by Lenny Santiago (“Be Woke”) — known as Lenny S. — this brand-new special delves into the global phenomenon of hip hop, talking to today’s biggest artists in the genre about where they find musical inspiration, how they came to love hip hop and what their current projects are. The documentary also features a special trip to Jamaica, offering fans a behind-the-scenes look at the making of DJ Khaled’s (“God Did,” 2022) music video for “These Streets Know My Name.”

“The Lord of the Rings: The Rings of Power” (Available Now)

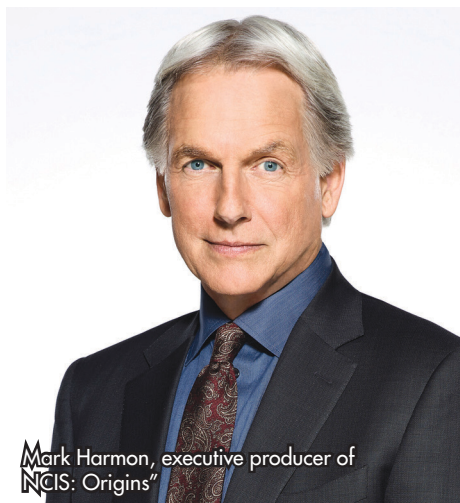

Set thousands of years before the events of “The Hobbit: An Unexpected Journey” (2012) and “The Lord of the Rings: The Fellowship of the Ring” (2001), this prequel series follows a cast of characters — some familiar, some new to audiences — as they face a dark and treacherous villain casting an evil shadow over Middle-earth. Morfydd Clark (“Saint Maud,” 2019), Ismael Cruz Cordova (“In the Blood,” 2014) and Charlie Vickers (“Medici”) star.

“Class of ‘07” (Available Now)

Class reunions are hard enough as is, but when an apocalyptic tidal wave hits during the 10-year reunion of Zoe’s (Emily Browning, “Sucker Punch,” 2011) former all-girls high school, a cutthroat group of women must leave their rivalries in the past and band together, finding a way to survive on the island that once was their high school campus. Created by Kacie Anning (“Hardball”), this series also stars Megan Smart (“Wakefield”), Caitlin Stacey (“Smile,” 2022), Claire Lovering (“San Andreas,” 2015) and Sarah Krndija (“The Junket,” 2021), among others.

Mark Harmon, executive producer of “NCIS: Origins”

Is Mark Harmon headed back to “NCIS”?

Q: I’ve heard that Mark Harmon is coming back to “NCIS.” Is that true? – Jim George, Macon, Ga.

A: In a certain sense, though as of now, it’s not intended to be in an on-camera capacity. The actor who had a long run on the original series as Leroy Jethro Gibbs will be an executive producer — along with his son Sean — of “NCIS: Origins,” a prequel series that CBS has ordered for next season. Austin Stowell (“Whiplash,” 2014) will play the younger Gibbs, whose early phase as a special agent will be traced, with Kyle Schmid (“Six”) as his mentor Mike Franks (portrayed on the first show by recurring guest star Muse Watson).

While it’s possible that Harmon could turn up in forward-flashing “Origins” sequences as the older Gibbs, no plans for that have been announced as of now. Even behind the scenes, though, having Harmon’s imprint on an “NCIS” venture is quite significant given his well-known ties to the overall franchise. That doesn’t have meaning only in terms of an American sale, but around the world, given the international popularity of the show (which only has been enhanced during the current TV season by the addition of “NCIS: Sydney”).

“Monsters at Work” - Season 2 (May 5)

Featuring the voice acting talents of John Goodman (“Barton Fink,” 1991), Billy Crystal (“Forget Paris,” 1995), Henry Winkler (“The Waterboy,” 1998), Mindy Kaling (“The Office”), Lucas Neff (“Trash Truck”) and more, the second season of this “Monsters, Inc.” (2001) spinoff series follows as Tylor Tuskmon (Ben Feldman, “The Perfect Match,” 2005) works at being a Jokester, soon weighing his options as an opportunity unexpectedly opens at their rival energy company — FearCo — leaving Tylor to wonder where he truly belongs.

“Let it Be” - Remastered (May 8)

Now remastered for modern-day viewers, Michael Lindsay-Hogg’s (“The Rolling Stones Rock and Roll Circus,” 1996) 1970 documentary offers a snapshot into the lives of the legendary rock and roll group, the Beatles, as they recorded their iconic 1969 album “Let It Be” — only one year before the band dissolved. The film features original footage remastered by Peter Jackson’s (“The Lord of the Rings: The Fellowship of the Ring,” 2001) Park Road Post Production team, with remastered audio created using the same de-mixing tools that recently led to the release of the Beatles’ final song.

“Doctor Who” - Season 1 (May 10)

In its first official season on Disney+, the long-running, cult-favorite sci-fi series sees the Fifteenth Doctor (Ncuti Gatwa) and his companion, Ruby Sunday (Millie Gibson) traveling across time and space, with adventures all the way from the Regency era in England to war-torn future worlds. Throughout their adventures in the TARDIS — a time-traveling ship shaped like a police box — they encounter incredible friends and dangerous foes, including a terrifying bogeyman and the Doctor’s most powerful enemy yet.

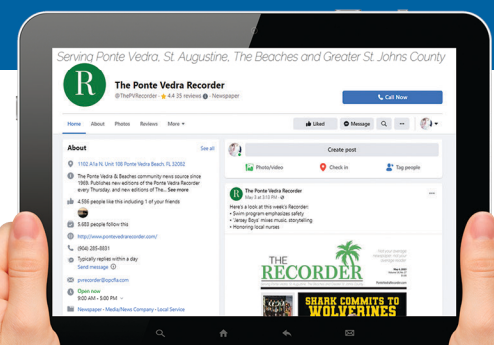

“Fantastic Mr. Fox” - (Available Now)

From acclaimed director Wes Anderson (“Asteroid City,” 2023), this stop-motion flick follows as a quick-witted fox, aptly named Mr. Fox (George Clooney, “The Monuments Men,” 2014), gives into his animalistic instinct and raids the farm of his human neighbors, breaking a promise he made to his wife (Meryl Streep, “Out of Africa,” 1985) and endangering all the local wildlife in the process. Based on the novel by Roald Dahl, the film also stars Jason Schwartzman (“Rushmore,” 1998), Bill Murray (“Ghostbusters,” 1984) and many more.
