Congratulations are in order: Television's best work is awarded at the 75th Primetime Emmy Awards

Roll out the red carpet, because it is finally time to honor the year's best television. The 75th annual Primetime Emmy Awards air live coast-to-coast on Fox, Monday, Jan. 15. Broadcast from the Peacock Theater in Los Angeles, this year's long-awaited awards ceremony welcomes TV's on-screen and behind-the-scenes stars to recognize the achievements of nominees and winners alike.

Originally set to take place in September 2023, the ceremony was postponed due to both writers and screen actors guild strikes last year. With the new submission guidelines in place for Emmy eligibility, all nominated work had to have aired in its entirety by May 31, meaning that, at the very least, it has been over seven months since these stellar TV shows, specials and movies have graced our screens.

It comes as no surprise that the most-nominated series at this year's Emmy Awards is HBO's "Succession," with a staggering 27 nominations for its final season. One of the most critically lauded shows in recent memory, "Succession" started strong in 2018 and only gained momentum over its four-season run. The final season of "Succession" was appointment television with its incredible writing, directing and performances recognized with nominations this year.

In the Outstanding Drama Series category, "Succession" is nominated among fellow HBO series "House of the Dragon," "The Last of Us" and "The White Lotus," as well as "Andor" on Disney+, AMC's "Better Call Saul," Netflix's "The Crown" and Showtime's "Yellowjackets." Outstanding Comedy Series nominees are ABC's "Abbott Elementary," HBO's "Barry," Hulu's "The Bear," Amazon Freevee's series "Jury Duty," Prime Video's "The Marvelous Mrs. Maisel," the Hulu sitcom "Only Murders in the Building," "Ted Lasso" from Apple TV+ and Netflix's "Wednesday."

Three performances from "Succession" were nominated for Outstanding Lead Actor in a Drama Series, with Brian Cox as patriarch Logan Roy, Kieran Culkin as the neurotic Roman Roy, and Jeremy Strong as eldest boy Kendall Roy, all competing in the category. Jeff Bridges in "The Old Man" on FX, Pedro Pascal in "The Last of Us" and Bob Odenkirk in "Better Call Saul" are also nominated.

The nominees for Outstanding Lead Actress in a Drama Series spread the wealth across more series than Lead Actor, with nominations for Sharon Horgan in "Bad Sisters" on Apple TV+, Melanie Lynskey on "Yellowjackets," Elisabeth Moss in Hulu's "The Handmaid's Tale," Bella Ramsey in "The Last of Us," Keri Russell in Netflix's "The Diplomat" and Sarah Snook in "Succession."

Outstanding Lead Actor in a Comedy Series nominees are Bill Hader in the final season of "Barry," Jason Segel in the Apple TV+ series "Shrinking," Martin Short in "Only Murders in the Building," Jason Sudeikis in the Apple TV+ sitcom "Ted Lasso" and Jeremy Allen White in "The Bear."

In the Outstanding Lead Actress in a Comedy Series category, nominations go to Christina Applegate in Netflix's "Dead to Me," Rachel Brosnahan in "The Marvelous Mrs. Maisel," Quinta Burnson in "Abbott Elementary," Natasha Lyonne in Peacock's "Poker Face" and Jenna Ortega in "Wednesday."

Taron Egerton in the Apple TV+ miniseries "Black Bird," Kumail Nanjiani in Hulu's "Welcome to Chippendales," Evan Peters in "Dahmer — Monster: The Jeffrey Dahmer Story," Michael Shannon in Showtime's "George & Tammy" and Steven Yeun in "Beef" are nominated for Outstanding Lead Actor in a Limited or Anthology Series or Movie, while Lizzy Caplan in "Fleishman Is in Trouble," Jessica Chastain in "George & Tammy," Dominique Fishback in Prime Video's "Swarm," Kathryn Hahn in Hulu's "Tiny Beautiful Things," Riley Keough in "Daisy Jones & the Six" and Ali Wong in "Beef" make up the Lead Actress nominees.

An essential memoir of fashion pioneer Bethann Hardison, this documentary shines a spotlight on the singular and unapologetic icon who, as a pioneering Black model, modeling agent and entrepreneur, has pushed the boundaries of fashion culture and has been at the forefront of progress throughout her career. ## 'Bake' to school: Kids complete their culinary curriculum in school-themed competition

Careful, your dog might really eat this homework: "Kids Baking Championship" returns with an all-new episode, airing Monday, Jan. 15, on Food Network.

During this fresh batch of 10 new episodes, hosts Duff Goldman ("Duff Takes The Cake") and Valerie Bertinelli ("Valerie's Home Cooking") welcome 12 young bakers-in-training, putting them through a gauntlet of increasingly difficult pastry-making challenges. This season, the kids will also be met with an added theme, as Season 12 celebrates a return to school in the new year.

"From picture day portrait cakes to blondies that celebrate the most popular recess game, hopscotch, and to cafeteria lunch dessert imposters, they must showcase their baking knowledge by making the most delicious and visually stunning treats imaginable," Food Network describes.

This season's competitors range in age from nine (Elise Stark; Abilene, Texas) to 13 years old (Levi Dubner; Boca Raton, Florida), including: Andy Coyle (Redwood City, California; age 11), Anaiah Hodges (Manvel, Texas; age 10), Leland Jackson (Ann Arbor, Michigan; age 12), Jaime Lee (Yorktown, Virginia; age 11), Madison

Lendor (Monroe, New York; age 10), Henry Muranaka (Bountiful, Utah; age 11), Tasi Savage (Kona, Hawaii; age 12), Lila Smethurst (San Antonio; age 11), Oscar Stowell (Ross, California; age 12) and Camryn Williams (Charlotte, North Carolina; age 11).

Following weeks of competition — sweet for some, salty for others — the best of the bunch will go on to compete in Season 12's massive two-episode finale, airing Monday, Feb. 26.

According to the network, the finale episodes will include a "tie-dye doughnuts and ice cream competition, and end with the ultimate challenge of a volcano cake for the school science fair, with the added stipulation the baked good must actually be able to erupt.

"The winning baker," they continue, "will become head of the class and graduate with a $25,000 grand prize, a spot in Food Network Magazine and the title of Kids Baking Champion."

Needless to say, with life-changing prizes on the line, these gold-star students are eager to put their best foot forward, hoping to impress their teachers as they explore this season's culinary curriculum.

All-new episodes from this 12th season of "Kids Baking Champion-ship" air Mondays on Food Network.

BEST TV LAWYERS

Perry Mason (Raymond Burr, "Perry Mason," CBS, 1957-66): The Erle Stanley Gardner-created character who confirmed that law shows had a place on television, Mason rarely lost a case ... which might have made him seem superhuman but also helped real-life attorneys have a shining public image.

Lawrence and Kenneth Preston (E.G. Marshall and Robert Reed, "The Defenders," CBS, 1961-65): If you needed father-and-son lawyers on your side, these were the men to go to, thanks in large part to the brilliant writing of the series' scripts (often by Reginald Rose).

Daniel O'Brien (Peter Falk, "The Trials of O'Brien," CBS, 1965-66): Before he was Columbo, Falk was a similarly unkempt lawyer whose ramshackle image cloaked a keen legal mind.

Martin Kazinsky (Ron Leibman, "Kaz," CBS, 1978-79): Kaz was in a unique position to know how the legal system worked, since he had been a convict himself before representing others.

Joyce Davenport (Veronica Hamel, "Hill Street Blues," NBC, 1981-87):
While her personal relationship with a police captain had her skirting conflicts of interest frequently, this tough prosecutor knew her job thoroughly and did it with consistent exper-

Arnold Becker (Corbin Bernsen, "L.A. Law," NBC, 1986-94): Lawyers can have very active social lives, too, and it's hard to imagine anyone's being more active than Arnie's ... a fact that sometimes got him into trouble on the job.

Jack McCoy (Sam Waterston, "Law & Order," NBC, 1994-2010, 2022-present): Though he was a part of the system, fierce justice-for-all proponent McCoy sometimes skirted it in prosecuting to ensure that the right people got the right destinies. Waterston is playing the part again on the NBC revival that returns with new episodes starting Thursday, Jan. 18.

Theodore Hoffman (Daniel Benzali, "Murder One," ABC, 1995-86): A stern legal eagle particularly savvy about the way the media worked in covering attention-grabbing cases, "Teddy" was the star defense attorney anyone in the public eye wanted to have

'A Biltmore Christmas' was built for on-location filming

A: The recent Hallmark Channel attraction starring Bethany Joy Lenz and Kristoffer Polaha took place at the actual site in Asheville, N.C., and the timing of the filming was quite clever. It was made last winter, when many of the decorations from the Biltmore's 2022 Christmas season were still up, thus enabling the production to take advantage of them. It meant filming for a November 2023 debut long before that normally would be done, but that's where smart planning came in.

Q: I was surprised to see that the season of "Sullivan's Crossing" ended so early. Will it be back? – Jill Brown, Terre Haute, Ind.

A: All 10 of the first-season episodes that had been aired earlier in 2023 by Canada's CTV were shown this past fall by The CW. The good news is that both networks have renewed the Nova Scotia-filmed drama that stars Morgan Kohan, Chad Michael Murray and Scott Patterson for a second season ... so it will be back whenever those new chapters are ready.

Q: I read that during "Christmas in Rockefeller Center," protesters demonstrated and several were arrested. How was that not shown? - Paul Garrett, via e-mail

A: That was due to the preparation of the New York City Police Department and the NBC special's production team. Demonstrations at major events, particularly regarding current events in the Middle East, were anticipated during this holiday season, with a similar situation arising during the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade, and the cameras also steered around showing that occurrence. Just from watching the tree-lighting telecast, it was virtually impossible to tell that anything hadn't gone according to plan, despite later news footage that showed some of the arrests.
